Introduction

These stories are graded within a phonic progression, which takes the learner from simple to more complex. They have been written especially for older children, adult and ESOL learners.

They follow the phonic progression that is presented in the Sounds~Write programme and are designed to be used alongside that programme. However, they would be useful for any teacher who wants to introduce the English alphabet code gradually, in a structured sequence.

Being able to read a short text, at the right level, will give the learners confidence and a sense of achievement. It is important to reinforce work on the sounds at each level with reading words in text. Each story includes the sounds taught in that unit and the sounds already learned in previous units, so that the learner can decode every word and gain confidence from independent reading.

The stories are divided into two sections.

Section One contains stories which introduce the English alphabet code in its simplest form: single-letter sounds and consonant digraphs, within CVC words in the initial stages. The level of difficulty increases gradually to include 4 and 5 sound words, such as CCCVC. This progression correlates to the Initial Code of the Sounds-Write programme and Phases 2, 3 and 4 of Letters and Sounds.

Section Two contains stories that focus on the main vowel phonemes in our language. It correlates to the Extended Code of the Sounds~Write programme and Phases 3 and 5 of Letters and Sounds.

There are two levels in this section:

Level 1 are simpler stories containing a limited number of graphemes representing the target sound.

Level 2 are more complex stories and contain more ways of spelling that sound.

Appropriate polysyllabic words are included in each section.

The stories can also be used to consolidate code knowledge. The Sound Search activity, outlined on page 93, helps to enhance aural discrimination by asking the learners to listen for the target sound. Analysing the words containing that sound helps them to identify the various ways of spelling the sound.

A book containing extensive phonic resources suitable for older learners can be ordered from www.forwardwithphonics.com

Nurse Turner

Nurse Turner rushed into work at thirteen minutes past eight. Her shift started at eight but she had overslept. She worked at Manchester Royal Infirmary in the centre of the city. The traffic was worse than usual this morning.

“Quick,” said her friend, Kirsty. “Sister is coming to inspect the ward at eight-thirty.”

“That’s the first I’ve heard of it,” said Nurse Turner. “I’d better go and get a clean uniform. This collar is dirty and my skirt is too short. Sister likes everything to be perfect.”

After the inspection, Sister turned to Nurse Turner. “I’ve heard a rumour that you are often late for work. Make sure you are early next Thursday. We have a new doctor starting and I want to be certain that we are all here to welcome her.”

Nurse Turner smiled as she got on with her work. She had got away with her bad start to the day.

She was determined not to be late on Thursday. She would be early to impress the new doctor!
Write your answers in sentences:

1. What time did Nurse Turner get to work?

   .............................................................................................................
